

Non-Obsolescence Program

The Highland Non-Obsolescence Program assures provision and maintenance of Highland products for a minimum of seven years. Highland is committed to providing long-term availability of products and support through our long term life-cycle planning, component and spares management, and component end-of-life planning and stocking programs. Highland insures our products and full support throughout the life of your product or program. Our standard product warranty is one year and can be extended without limit. Firmware upgrades are always free.

Highland will always manufacture and support any Highland product, no matter how old, if physically possible.
